

VITANICA® ~ FEMVITALITY®

A botanical combination to bring forth the historical/traditional uses of three of the most important plants supporting libido in women, but also now documented in the research for promoting sexual function in women.

Featured Ingredients:

- Tribulus now shows documented research in significantly promoting several areas of sexual function in women including the domains of desire, arousal/lubrication and pleasure
- Fenugreek also shows in research to promote free testosterone and estradiol and shows support of libido - desire and arousal
- Maca peruvianum is a traditionally used herb from South America, which also shows supportive research in promoting women's sexual function

Indications: Sexual function is complex, and not all causes are hormonal. It is important to seek evaluation to try to learn what may be the cause, which can include many emotional and situational circumstances. FemVitality offers an area of support/maintenance with research supported botanicals, as well as historically used herbs, to support the female libido & promote sexual function.

Suggested Use: Two (2) capsules per day. For best results, take on an on-going basis. May be taken with or without food.
